

WELCOME BACK!

Librarians, to Melanie, were somewhat on par with God – who else could be bothered with, and better yet, know the answers to so many different types of questions? Knowledge was power, but a good librarian did not hoard the gift. She taught others how to find, where to look, how to see.

You are cordially invited to stop by the library and let me know how I can support your classes and make your job easier. Some of the many services I provide include:

- Introducing your students to the library's resources.
- Co-planning meaningful library visits with your classes.
- Locating and compiling web sites and print materials for you.
- Requesting materials from other libraries.
- Preparing collections for classroom use to support a specific topic.

Please stop by or call me at x-4302. I look forward to collaborating with you this year!
